[illegible] ON SNAKE RIVER.—A party of prospectors from Nevada, Cal., have been prospecting the Snake river and its tributaries, and found fine gold on Rock Creek. There was plenty of pay dirt, but the gold was very fine and they were unable [illegible]. On Raft river 20 miles above Snake they found the bodies of three murdered men which they buried. They had been evidently [illegible] of the ill-fated party, who had camped with a four horse team in the willows beside the creek where they were shot by the Indians. The bodies had been stripped of all but their under clothing, and were pierced with arrows. From papers found we learn the names of three of the party, Robert Spratt, Miller and Elliott. Mr. Spratt was formerly from Ohio, and recently from Big Oak Flat, Cal. Bills and papers found about them were dated Virginia City, showing that they had fitted out from this place. The [illegible] on Raft river reported that four packers, one of seven, had been killed by the Snake Indians.—Boise [illegible]

PORT ANGELES, WASHINGTON TERRITORY.—As this new stage town and port of entry for the Puget Sound country is already assuming considerable importance, the following description of the harbor, written by Capt. Geo. B. McClellan, then of the Topographical Engineers, now Major General U. S. A., will interest our readers. It is from Vol. XII, page 218, of Explorations for a Pacific Railroad, and was written in 1853. Capt. McClellan says:

"This, so to speak, the first attempt of nature on this coast to form a good harbor. A low, sandy and very narrow spit of land sets out from the coast and runs east about three miles. It forms and bounds with the coast a bay two miles broad, and of a regular oval shape. The harbor has surprisingly deep soundings of from 20 to 10 fathoms, from its eastern entrance to its western end, and is also deep from north to south and extremely well protected against the west, north and south. The harbor was discovered by Quimper in 1790, and called Puerto de los Angelos (the Harbor of the Angels). [illegible] This is doubtless the true name of the harbor."

To the above may be added, that within the town site reserved by the Government, four mountain streams of the purest water empty into the bay, with fall enough for any desirable purpose. A level table land about 70 feet above sea level extends back for about six miles to the foot hills of the Olympian range, and in the neighborhood are vast quantities of rich farming lands.

A SINGULAR YOUNG REBEL WOMAN.—As we were passing along the street, two days ago, in our usual quiet way, musing upon the storms of state, and pondering upon our solemn responsibility in this great crisis of the affairs of the nation and of mankind, a very pretty young woman, whom we had understood to be a fiery little rebel and even a terrible villifier of the Louisville Journal, was about meeting us, when turning off from the side walk, she protruded her red and tempting lips at us boldly and defiantly. "Oh certainly we will, if you want us to very bad, though indeed this is rather too public a place," said we with our accustomed suavity, advancing towards her with our lips correspondingly protruded, when, to our no little disappointment and surprise she started and ran away from us as if we had been some ugly old fellow of forty.—Louisville Journal.

THURSDAY MORNING, SEPT. 4, 1862.

The News.

The news by telegraphic dispatches last evening is somewhat discouraging, as it would seem that the rebel forces have by an extraordinary effort dashed in upon our line of operations, and have succeeded in breaking this line and forcing their way up to Manassas Junction. But we cannot regard this intelligence in any other light than "sensational," and when the true facts shall reach us, we believe that quite a different phase will be put upon the aspect of affairs. The rebels have probably attempted a bold stroke, knowing the crippled condition of our forces in consequence of sickness and debility in that hot Southern climate, and have determined to take advantage of this condition of things and make a sudden dash for Washington City, or to reclaim their lost ground in Kentucky and Maryland, before the three hundred thousand reinforcements can reach our forces. We believe, and we may say that this belief is founded upon more than hope, that ere this time our commanding officers have seen the design of the rebels, and by an equally or superior stroke of military skill and bravery, succeeded in checking their mad career, and driving them back again. In fact, the latest dates in our dispatches give us encouraging hope that such had already been the case, as Gen. Pope seems to have succeeded in checking them at Bull Run, and at latest accounts the prospect was very flattering that another day's fighting would turn the scales in favor of the Union forces. We shall look with much anxiety for further news until this crisis is past.

But we desire to say a word to our friends and all Union-loving patriots. Do not be discouraged. We may look for reverses occasionally. In fact, this rebellion would belie its name and reputation if those engaged in it did not occasionally gain a victory or give our forces a hot contested fight. We must recollect that the rebellion has assumed immense proportions, and is waged with a determination worthy of a better cause. We must acknowledge the fact that we are fighting with a people quite equal to us in bravery and military skill, and that notwitstanding the fact that we may have more men in the field than they, which, however, is a matter of doubt, or that our troops may be a little better equipped than theirs, still ours is the invading army; we are fighting them, as it were, on their own soil; and this makes a great difference in the relative capacity for sudden or immediate action, as they can in a day collect their forces from all parts of the country over which they hold control, march them straight into the battle field, fresh and vigorous for an assault, while we have to depend upon distant States and localities for fresh troops, when needed, and these troops have to march under many difficulties and disadvantages, and enter the field under fatigue and depression, consequent upon a sudden transition from a different climate. We believe that the next news will give the details of glorious results to the Union cause.

A. HOLBROOK.

U. S. SANITARY COMMISSION.—We publish the names of quite a number of our citizens who have nobly donated liberal amounts for the benefit of our distressed soldiers on the battle field, in response to the call issued a few days since by Hon. A. Holbrook. We are pleased to see the interest and liberality shown by our people and hope to be able to add the names of hundreds yet to the list.

HARD FIGHTING AT BULL RUN.

30,000 Rebels within a Few Miles of Washington.

Heavy Loss of Federal Stores.

Pope, McDowell, Sigel and Heintzelman Take the Rebels in the Rear.

STONEWALL JACKSON BETWEEN TWO FIRES.

Heavy Rebel Loss, and Probable Capture of Jackson's Entire Army.

Pope's Official Report

NEW YORK, August 28th. The Alexandria correspondent of the Tribune, states that Tuesday night, (26th) the Federal pickets at Manassas Junction were driven in; two companies infantry, one of cavalry and a similar [illegible] artillery, stationed there, were surprised and attacked by Ewell's division, numbering from seven to ten thousand, infantry, cavalry and artillery. After a short skirmish our small force fled and the rebels turned on them [illegible] of our guns, keeping up a brisk fire till the Union troops were taken prisoners, only a few escaping across Bull Run, at Union Mills, where the 11th and 12th Ohio, Gen. Cox's division, were stationed. This division immediately advanced, under Scammon, to meet the approaching rebels, and a conflict ensued between Junction and Bull Run, lasting three hours. The Union troops being largely outnumbered, and flanked on the right, retreated across Bull Run bridge. Here a vigorous attempt was made to hold the bridge. At 10 o'clock, two rebel regiments forced the Run above the bridge, when the 12th Ohio charged and drove them back with heavy loss. Our regiments lost 35 or 40, killed, wounded and missing. At 12 o'clock, Scammon was obliged to retire, moving along the railroad in the direction of Alexandria. The rebels advanced across Bull Run. On Wednesday their advanced cavalry were at Fairfax and Burt's Station, taking possession of Manassas Junction. The rebels captured seven trains loaded with provisions and ammunition, and ten locomotives, all of which they destroyed. Out of 84 men in the 105 Pennsylvania regiment, only three are known to have escaped. Our loss is immense in Government stores, and large in killed, wounded and missing.

A Captain just from Centerville, says firing was heard early Thursday morning beyond Mannassas, and it is believed Gen. Pope has attacked Ewell in the rear.

NEW YORK, 26.—The New York Morning, to day, says a special messenger reached here last night with despatches from the War Department to Gov. Olds, to forward every man now enrolled, to Washington, whether equipped or not.

The Washington Star says, the Postmaster at Fairfax Court House has arrived. The Star says the enemy is encamped 20,000 or 30,000 strong at Gainesville, near Manassas. It also says the rebels succeeded in getting most of their army across the Rappahannock, at the base of the Blue Ridge, massing them at White Plains. It is evident they aim to get between Pope and the fortifications around Washington, and having done so they would have a lively time getting out of this position.

Hooker's division had an engagement on Wednesday, with a rebel force near Bristow's Station, lasting all day. Hooker drove the rebels step by step back to Manassas. Our loss in this division was 300.

The same evening there was an engagement between Scammon's brigade and a heavy force of rebels, for the possession of the Railroad bridge at Bull Run, the rebels held possession at night-fall, but it was believed that Scammon would dislodge them Thursday.

Thursday night the rebels burned bridges at Accatuck and Pope's Run.

The Alexandria correspondent of the Philadelphia Enquirer, writing on Thursday, says the enemy has succeeded in holding their own in the vicinity of Manassas and got down as far as Burt's station Wednesday night.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—The Baltimore American, of Thursday, 3 o'clock P. M., says our troops are being pushed forward rapidly from there.

Gen. McClellan has visited Washington and accepted command of our army in Virginia.

Fugitives from Manassas and Fairfax report a conflagration in the direction of the latter place. It was supposed Government stores had been destroyed. It is also said the rebels captured two out of four New Jersey regiments stationed at Centreville.

Gen. Pope is beyond Manassas and his communication is cut off.

Gen. Burnside's and Pope's corps had landed at Aquia creek.

It is also said Gen. Ewel has penetrated to the rear of Pope, and occupied the left bank of Occaquan river.

A large Federal force is marching to meet them and assist in opening a way to Gen. Pope's and Burnside's armies. If the movement is successful, it doubtless will place the rebel army in a worse position than that in which the main body of our troops is now, as they can, if necessary, fall back to Fredericksburg and reach Washington by the Potomac. On the other hand, if the rebels are cut off, their army may be scattered and destroyed. This rebel movement is a bold but hazardous one.

Mr. Hoorhurst, clerk of Circuit Court at Fairfax, says himself and Union men there were compelled to leave Wednesday, the rebels having taken possession of the place yesterday. He returned to learn the fate of his family but was met by citizens from Vienna escaping from that place, 700 rebel cavalry having made a descent on that place which is but 12 miles from Washington.

It is understood there is a large force at Leesburg. The prevailing opinion is they intend crossing into Maryland by way of Waterford not over knee deep.

FORTRESS MONROE, Aug. 29th.—The new Ironsides which left Philadelphia on the 21st, arrived and anchored in the Roads.

Alexandria, August 29.—At half past 8 o'clock this morning, Stewart's Cavalry made a dash into Vienna.

It is reported a fight is going on at Manassas to-day.

Heintzelman is reported to be in Jackson's rear, who is supposed to be 20,000 strong.

WASHINGTON, August 29.—The following official dispatch has been received from Pope, dated Manassas Junction, 28th, P. M.:

To Gen. Halleck:—So soon as I discovered that a large force of the enemy was turning our right toward Manassas, and that the divisions I had ordered there two days before had not arrived from Alexandria, I immediately broke camp at the Warrenton Junction, and marched rapidly back in three columns. I directed McDowell's and Sigel's corps, and Reno's divisions to march upon Gainesville, by Warrenton and Alexandria, Pike's and one of Heintzelman's to march on Greenwich, and with Porter's corps and Hooker's division I marched back to Manassas Junction. McDowell was ordered to interpose between the forces of the enemy which had passed to Manassas through Gainseville and his main body moving down from White Plains through Fair Gap; this was accomplished completely.

Langstreet who had passed through the Gap, being driven back to the West side, the forces to Greenwich were designed to support McDowell in case he met too large a force of the enemy!

Hooker's division moving towards Manassas, came on the enemy near Kittle river on the afternoon of the 29th. After a sharp action he routed them completely; surrounded 300, capturing the camp and baggage, with many stand of arms. This morning the command pushed rapidly forward to Manassas Junction, which Jackson had evacuated three hours before. He retreated by Centreville and took the turnpike road towards Washington. He was met six miles west of Centreville by McDowell and Sigel, and late this afternoon a severe fight took place, which darkness terminated. The enemy was driven back at all points; and thus affairs rest.

Heintzelman will move on him at daylight from Centreville, and I don't see how the enemy is to escape without heavy loss. We have captured 1,000 prisoners, many arms, and one piece of artillery.

POPE.

LATER FROM CHINA.—About Jan. 14 the steamer Cann Sto, Capt. Belcher, while lying at the wharf at Shanghae, with all steam up, just ready to start on her trip up the river, blew up, whereby nearly fifty persons were killed, two or three of whom were prominent merchants of Shanghae. There were only four Americans on board. Admiral Gough, of the Chinese navy, formerly of South Carolina, and W. Marshall, of New York, who has been in China for the past three years, were killed. They were both men of family and means.

It is thought that the steamer trade on the Yang-tse-kiang will soon more than equal the Mississippi in its palmiest days.

In Japan Professor Blake and Pompanelli (both Americans) are busily engaged in directing operations at the gold mines in the southern part of Japan, and with success. They recently let off the first blast ever known to Japanese miners, who were much frightened.

Capt. Fletcher, who has long lived in Hakodadi, says that during the last year one third of the inhabitants of Oscar, Japan, died of cholera, the population of Oscar being at that time supposed to be five millions.

Just Arrived! MR. DENDEE has arrived from San Francisco with a new assortment of Frames and Cases, and is now prepared to take CARD PICTURES and other PHOTOGRAPHS in all the latest approved styles, and at San Francisco Prices. He has made improvements in his Light and Rooms, and will warrant all his work.

SEWING MACHINES

ARE UNEQUALLED BY ANY FOR

BEAUTY AND SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION

AND

Efficiency in Working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction and easily kept in order; should make a strong, lock-stitch, alike on both sides of the material, and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.

It should be able to use cotton, thread, or silk directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine, and from thick to thin, with rapidity, and without changing the tension. It should also be able to make the tension greater or less, on both the under and upper threads and with uniformity; and should have a straight needle; curved ones being liable to break.

The needle should have perpendicular motion—this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.

It should be able to bind with a binder, hem with a hemmer, should stitch, fell, run and gather; and should be always ready to work.

It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread or silk, there in below to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united.

It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam, and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.

It should have a wheel feed; no others are in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order; neither should it require a screwdriver or wrench to set the needle.

It should not be liable to soil the operator's dress.

It should not form a ridge on the under side, nor ravel.

DR. BAKER'S

PAIN PANACEA.

Is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oil and herbs. It is perfectly safe, and the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known any, however delicate, to be injured by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted, who have not used it, to try it for the [illegible] disease. If they are not satisfied with its healing properties the money will be cheerfully refunded by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea internally, bathe externally over the parts affected, and you will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Rusty or Wound, bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely, and take a dose of it internally, morning, noon and night, it will not only cure the pain, but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea, to the affected parts, and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.

If you have the Diarrhoea, or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a dose of Pain Panacea, and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling, bathe the parts freely, and you will soon relieve pain, and the swelling will be reduced.

If you have a severe toothache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton and bathe gum at the same time; it will stop the pain instantly.

If you have a pain in the Breast, Side, Back or Kidneys, bathe the parts affected morning and night, at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has a caked breast, apply the Panacea as hot as it can be borne.

If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

If you have a wound, cut, or galls upon your horse, apply the Pain Panacea; it will take out all the inflammation and heal the sore in a short time.

From the Oregon Farmer.

Our Thoroughfares.

One of the great causes that have militated against the prosperity of our State, has been the bad condition of our highways. Take, for instance, the road leading from Portland—the metropolis of the State.— During one-half of the year they are almost impassable. In fact, for about six months of the year our only communication with the country is by means of our river steamers. The farmers who do not live contiguous to the river are obliged, in order to bring their grain to market, to do so in the autumn when their own labor, with that of their teams is most required on the farm. Then if they have no store houses of their own, they are obliged to sell at the prices ruling at that time, which almost always are lower than at any other season of the year. And when winter comes the farmer is comparatively idle. The roads are in such a condition that he is practically imprisoned.

The one great cause which has tended to retard the improvement of our roads, has been the sparseness of our population. The land claims in the valley are so large that it is quite a burden for the farmer to keep the road in such a condition that it will be passable, even for the summer season. This state of affairs will be remedied when our population becomes more dense; when the burden of road-building will, for that reason, become less onerous, and when necessity will compel the farmer to watch the state of the market and command the means of reaching it when it is most advantageous.

What Oregon imperatively needs at this time is a good, substantial plank road, leading from this city to the extreme end of the valley. If there was such a road completed now, no one can begin to realize the benefit that would accrue to both town and country. Business would start with new life. The road would be lined with teams laden for market. The ease and readiness with which the various markets along the route could be reached, would prove a great incentive to the farmer to increase the quantity and variety of his productions. If the free circulation of the blood is impeded, no matter from what cause, the system languishes; but let that impediment be removed, let the arteries be once more free, and the heart will again resume its healthy action, throw the life blood to the very extremities, and cause alike the glow and the strength of health. Oregon has always been languishing for the reason that there have been great impediments in the way of readily bringing produce to market. But once let such an enterprise as we have designated be completed, let a road be built the toll for traveling which will not be burdensome, (and it need not be, and yet still prove a good investment,) and the immediate consequence will be an increased activity in every department of business. We could wish that such an enterprise could be speedily carried out. But we confess we have not much hopes for its early completion. Our State Constitution forbids the State from taking hold of any such enterprise, and our capitalists, what few we have, are too busy in taking in their two and three per cent. per month to engage in works of public benefit. But some day it will be done, and when it is accomplished, every part and every resource of the State will awaken to new life, and be very materially benefitted by its completion.

Why are so few Young Men fond of Farming?

Though in this country a majority of persons are probably engaged in agricultural pursuits, I have the impression that comparatively few young men are really fond of farming. Why do the sons of farmers so frequently forsake the calling of their fathers to engage in other occupations? It seems to me, one and perhaps the principal reason may be, because parents do not take sufficient pains to make home and the business of farming pleasant and attractive. Is it enough for them to clothe and feed the bodies of their children, but neglect to furnish the daily food which is necessary for the nourishment and full development of the social as well as the intellectual and moral faculties?

Are not boys upon the farm too often driven, as it were, to their work, instead of being so taught as to become interested in their employment, and thus learn to love it, and perform the labor as it should be performed by intelligent and accountable beings?

"Will not the sons, if rightly taught to toil,
Delight through life, to cultivate the soil?
And though they leave the spot which gave them birth,
Still draw their sustenance from Mother Earth?"

Another reason to which I will allude, though with diffidence, (for it is rather a delicate matter,) is the influence of young ladies. Do they not sometimes, to say the least, slight and shun the hardy, sunburnt sons of toil, and bestow their smiles and heart's affections upon those with smaller, softer hands, and alas, too oft, with corresponding brains!

A third reason may be the position, or place, which farmers occupy in community. Though not generally regarded as "mud-sill," they may, perhaps, with propriety, be compared to the firm, substantial foundations of a building; for upon them the whole superstructure of civilized society is built and depends for its support. In viewing a public edifice, we seldom observe the plain, unpretending, yet essential foundation on which it stands; but take particular notice of the building itself, upon which art and adornment may have been lavished almost regardless of expense. So the learned, cultivated and refined members of society, by being conspicuous, attract attention, while the attention of the farmer is such that he is sometimes considered worth observation, especially in populous aristocratic places, which [illegible] somewhat with snobs and nabobs.

The impression which prevails, at least to a considerable extent, that farming is not profitable, might be mentioned as another reason. But as the profitableness of farming is a "much mooted" question, and one which some of your correspondents desire to have discussed again in your paper, I will reserve that subject as a sort of [illegible] work for another communication.—Cor. N. E. Farmer.

Sir John Franklin's Expedition.—A late telegram has the following interesting news:

St. Johns, N. F., Aug. 22.—The barque George Henry, from the Fishery Bay, with Mr. Hall, of the New Sir John Franklin Expedition on board, has arrived. He reports that, in consequence of the loss of some of his craft, he was unable to prosecute his mission to the extent he desired. The expedition has probably determined the fate of two boats of Sir John Franklin's expedition, which perished while endeavoring to return. The expedition also learnt the fate of the five men captured from the [illegible] on her first voyage. The exact place of their landing was identified. Mr. Hall explored a thousand miles of the coast, including the so-called Frobisher's Straits, which proved to be a deep bay. The Geo. Henry was about to start for the States on the 18th October, 1861, but was prevented by the ice.
